TWO MARSHALL COUNTY FARMERS FIGHT DUEL TO DEATH

DUNCAN WILL TALK CO-OPERATIVE IDEA TO FARM LEADERS

Businessmen Plan To Attend Hartselle Meet Tuesday

FORD ASKS FOR A BIG ATTENDANCE

Marketing Methods and Food Crops To Be Central Theme

Farmers and business men will gather at Hartselle City Hall Tuesday at 10:30 for the discussion of farm marketing problems.

Under the leadership of L. N. Duncan of the extension service at Auburn, farmers and business men will discuss plans for the coming farm year, improved methods of marketing and the part the business man and the farmer is to play in the great growth of Morgan County agriculturally.

The Hartselle meeting has been arranged by the Morgan County Farm bureau, under the direction of J. C. Ford, county farm agent. Farmers from over the entire county have been sent invitations to attend. Business men in the various cities and towns of the county likewise have been asked to attend.

It is indicated today that quite a number of Albany-Decatur business men will attend the joint meeting of agricultural and industrial interests. Interest here is growing in favor of co-operative methods between farmers and business forces, it having been demonstrated that each body can benefit through the efforts of the other.

It is thought likely that several other farm chiefs will attend the Hartselle meeting tomorrow.

County farm agent J. C. Ford urged today that people in the various county sections who intend to be at the meeting make a round of their neighborhood and bring all their friends.

The advantage of the growing of food crops, in comparison with the one crop idea prevalent in the past, is expected to be one of the chief topics for discussion at the gathering Tuesday.

Callicott Has Obtained Bond

"Pink" Callicott, held in Mississippi on a charge of burglary and suspected of being implicated in the Hartselle bank robbery, has obtained bond, it was rumored here today at the sheriff's office. No official information was given. It was stated however that Callicott was fighting extradition and preferred to stand charges in Mississippi to coming to Alabama in connection with the Hartselle bank looting.

Labor Federation Gives To Cathedral

The American Federation of Labor will give a fund of $145,000 to St. John's Cathedral, in New York and union organizations all over the nation will be requested to participate in the gift.

The official approval has been given in New York, according to advices received here, of the plan previously outlined for contributing to the work. The union organizations in 48 states will be given an opportunity to participate.

Junior Chamber Meets Tuesday

The Junior Chamber of Commerce membership will meet in regularly scheduled session Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. President J. H. Smith urged that every member be present.

The board of directors will meet in regular weekly meeting Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the Daily office.

Mussolini Scorns Rest

The Italian Premier is shown with his nose bandaged a few hours after the bullet fired by Violet Gibson, Englishwoman, had penetrated his nostril. After receiving first aid, the Duce went to the flying field near Rome to inspect the Amundsen North Pole dirigible before it departed for the North. He was photographed en route.

REVIVAL SERIES IS OFF TO GOOD START

Splendid Beginning Is Made At Decatur Baptist Church

The revival series at the Decatur Baptist church began Sunday under most auspicious circumstances.

Rev. Powell Tucker, of Selma, preached two splendid sermons, both in the morning and evening. The Sunday morning service drew a large audience, the big auditorium being filled. Last night, however, the church was packed with eager listeners.

Rev. Lee, who is conducting the musical program also pleased the large congregation at both services Sunday. At the morning hour he sang "Open the gates of the Temple" and Sunday evening "There is a green hill far away." The singer has organized three choirs.

McAfee Nominated For High Honors

Bryan McAfee, local boy now a student of the University of Alabama, has received the nomination for presidency of the student body, according to Crimson-White, official campus publication of the school. McAfee is one of three candidates in the race. Since entering the University of Alabama, after compiling an enviable record at Albany high school, McAfee has received hosts of honors at the hands of his fellow students and his nomination for the presidency is particularly gratifying to his friends here.

Visiting Pastor Is Heard Here

Rev. Frank E. Harlow, pastor of the 17th street Christian church, of Nashville, was heard in a splendid sermon last night at the Princess theatre, speaking in place of Rev. Noble R. Edwards.

G. E. McCulloch conducted an inspiring song service, featured by a solo by Mrs. Frank Morrow.

Rev. Harlow is a brother of John B. Harlow, well known local resident.

AUDITOR HERE

Henry Broom Montgomery, prison department auditor, was here today checking the register at the Morgan County jail. His report will probably be made at a later date, from Montgomery.

DANVILLE RESIDENTS WANT ROAD BUILT

Ask For Good Road From Twin Cities To Section

Danville residents want the Albany-Decatur-Danville road completed it was expressed here today by local business men who have been in touch with residents of that territory. The present road is described as being inadequate for the transportation of farm products to these cities.

The Danville road at this time is in fairly good condition, it was stated, so far as the paved surface extends. Beyond this point considerable difficulty is experienced in getting over the highway. Other routes into the Twin Cities required too much time for residents of Danville to come to this central point, it was declared.

People of that territory are anxious that people of Albany-Decatur get behind a movement at once to have the road completed. A gap of from 12 to 16 miles of unpaved surface now is the basis for discontent among Morgan county farmers in that locality.

Forrester Gets Bond Approved

Frank S. Forrester has obtained his release from the Morgan County jail following the return of his $1,000 bond from Montgomery. Forrester was being held on a charge of bigamy. He was granted bond before Judge William T. Lowe several weeks ago.

Athens Bank Has Changed Its Name

Under a new charter, the First National Bank of Athens has now become the Athens National Bank, the arrangement being temporary, it was announced here today. It is likely that further change will be made following the meeting of the board of directors to be held in May. Ratification of the present action and plans for the future are expected to be settled upon in the May meeting.

THIEVES LOSE FIGHT

ADMINISTRATION TO BACK BILL TO DRAW PROHIBITORY NET TIGHTER

Second Measure To Aid Enforcement Sent To The Capital

COAST LINE TO BE PROTECTED

New Speed Boats Will Replace Present Flotilla

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Coincident with the renewal of discussion of further agreements with Great Britain for curbing rum smuggling, another administration measure was drawn today to tighten the effectiveness of the present coast defense against contraband liquor.

This measure is the second piece of legislation sent to the capitol this month with the endorsement of Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of enforcement, the other having been a proposal to revise the Volstead act to permit stricter administration.

The new proposals would give the coast guard officers right to search American vessels beyond the four league limit; permit exchange of 180 Liberty motors, held by the treasury for a new flotilla of speed boats; authorize customs officers to refuse permits for small boats evidently equipped for smuggling; provide for summary condemnation of liquor boats.

Permit the government to employ retired military officers and men in enforcement work, and effect reciprocal arrangements forbidding importation of merchandise into this country which is regarded as contraband.

Sells More Now Than Last Year

Decatur Fertilizer company has sold more fertilizer this year up until the present date than the company sold all last year, was the statement made today by A. A. Jones when asked if he had noticed any increase in the amount of farm business. Farmers are starting earlier this year and are rapidly adopting modern farming methods is the surmise of all dealers in this section.

WILLIAMS TRIAL ENDS

(Associated Press)

MARINE BASE, San Diego, Calif., April 19.—Arguments in the cocktail court martial of Colonel Williams were completed at 11:12 a.m. today and the court retired to deliberate on a verdict. Colonel Williams refused to testify in his own behalf.

Today:

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1926, by The Star Co., For Albany-Decatur Daily).

THE people of the United States with several million plurality that elected President Harding and then elected President Coolidge, do not want the world court.

It has been said in this column repeatedly that adherence to the world court, had it been suggested in 1924 or in 1920, would have been rejected by the voters by a vote as great as that against the League of Nations itself, in those years.

Now, in Illinois at the voters defeat the world court proposition and Senator McKinley by 150,000 votes.

The people are content with United States courts and do not want questions affecting this nation submitted to hostile judges. They do not want to send one judge to sit with ten European judges and be out voted ten to one by representatives of nations that hate this country and despise it.

MILITANT CALL IS SOUNDED BY DRYS TO PROHIBITORS

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Witness Today at Senate Hearing

DEFI IS HURLED AT NEW YORK SECTOR

Enforcement Demand In Wet States To Save the Others

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The militant call to the American government to accept the challenge of opponents of the Volstead act was sounded by drys today before the senate prohibition committee.

Speaking for the Methodist Episcopal church South, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., told the committee the law should be enforced in the wet "New York Sector" or the east at whatever cost in men and money to protect other sections from contamination.

The wets, he said, had taken the committee session far afield during their two weeks of testimony before the committee and it was time to return to the basic question whether in the country as a whole the Volstead method of dealing with the liquor traffic had not been more effective than any other.

Bishop Cannon, who is head of the legislative committee of the Anti-Saloon league, was followed by other officials of church and temperance organizations, who presented data designed to upset the contention of the wets that conditions have grown worse under the dry laws.

It was noteworthy, Bishop Cannon said, that the testimony presented by the opponents of prohibition had come almost entirely from persons living in "the New York sector" including New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

"Two of these states, Maryland and New York, have utterly refused to pass any state enforcement law," he said, "and yet the very men in these states who are largely responsible for the failure to pass an enforcement law, are the ones who are loudly and illogically denouncing the failure to enforce the law."

Reviewing some of the testimony of the wets, he said he could not be made to believe that nine per cent of the laboring people of the country are violating the constitution by the manufacture of intoxicants in their homes.

TO PRESENT PLAY

The Falkville school will present "A Fortunate Calamity," a three act play at the Austinville school tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

That World Court, Now. Republicans Know More. Sold-Out Bulls. Better Than Steam in any doubt about the world court and the attitude of the people toward it, they know more now than they did a week or two ago.

SENATOR MCKINLEY, as he says in his pathetic farewell, had been sent to the United States senate for twenty years by the people of Illinois, what he doesn't say is that he consulted a few sentimentalists of his own inclination instead of consulting public opinion, when he decided to favor the world court. The vote that retires him to private life was not a vote against him personally, he is an estimable gentleman, it was a vote against his world court attitude.

IF YOU DO NOT need to 'keep track of the market,' that is, if you are not a ticket watcher 'consider yourself fortunate.

Blow, Blow Thou Winter Wind, Who Said t'was Spring?

The man who thinks this is spring is certainly a confirmed believer in the calendar, says the Nashville Banner, and it seems that the writer must have had knowledge of the shrilling winds sweeping across the threshold and into every cranny and corner of the Twin Cities. The thermometer was resting well this morning after a rampage during the night hours when the mercury dropped to 42 degrees. This morning the mercury market opened easy with a maximum of 69 degrees. The river showed falling tendency, along with the thermometer. If the weather continues merchants will start a few more Pre-Easter Sales.

NO STOCK DIVIDEND BY STEEL COMPANY

Time May Come When Mellon May Be Cut, Gary Says

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 19.—Elbert H. Gary's retirement as chairman of the United States steel corporation was foreshadowed in the opinion of many stockholders by his remarks at the annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J., today, although he did not definitely state his intentions.

"While we are all strong and vigorous today, yet we know that in the natural course of events it soon will be time for some of us to say goodbye, but whatever happens, be assured we have carefully built up an organization and established plants which will insure protection and advancement to the interests of the stockholders of the corporation and this, without detriment to the public welfare.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, today notified stockholders at their annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J., that no stock dividend could be safely declared at this time but indicated such a payment was possible in the future.

"I may say," he added, "the time may come when it would be legal, just and proper toward all interests and safe to the cash requirements of the steel corporation to issue common stock as a stock dividend to common shareholders against a part of new improvements heretofore charged to capital expenditures. Of course, if this were done, it would add to the amount of cash dividends on the common stock, if and when declared, and might possibly, in times of depression, interrupt their continuity."

Cold Weather Is Slight Hindrance

Cool weather this April is somewhat of a hindrance to farmers, stated M. J. May, Somerville Route 2 resident, today, but farmers in this section are going ahead with their planting. He declared that the majority of farmers in his section will plant cotton and corn this year, the lay of the land in that particular section not being adapted to other crops. Farmers, he declared in that section will buy most of their hay this year.

Masonic Bodies Plan Celebration

Committees of four Masonic bodies will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at Chapter and Commandery Hall for the purpose of formulating plans for a celebration to be held the latter part of May at the formal opening of the Masonic Temple. Mizpah Chapter O. E. S., Demolay Commandery, Albany Lodge 491 and Decatur Chapter will have representatives at tonight's conference. Masonic Temple will be completed about May 1.

Duel Is Culmination Of Domestic Trouble Between Farmers

(Associated Press)

GUNTERSVILLE, Ala., April 19.—Otis McClendon is dead, while Pleze King lies in bed under special guard, with a shattered leg, as a result of a mountain feud which culminated Sunday night in a duel with shotguns.

Brimble mountain was the scene of the tragedy. King was lying in bed, according to a report from Sheriff Paris, of Marshall county, when McClendon came to his side window and fired point blank at his enemy.

The load of shot entered King's leg and he jumped from the bed in spite of his wound and, running into an adjoining room, grabbed his shotgun. McClendon, it is alleged, had reached the back door of the house, with the purpose of entering, and King met him and fired four times, each shot taking effect.

McClendon is then said to have backed off toward a tree, where he died just after he had broken his gun and inserted another shell for a continuation of the duel.

McClendon's body showed shot in the head, right shoulder, neck and breast.

The duel was the culmination of domestic trouble between the two men according to the sheriff. They were related by marriage, it was stated.

CARBON HILL YOUTH IS BADLY WOUNDED

Dance Hall Employee Is Held Without Bond In Jasper Jail

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 19.—Orville Moore, 19, of Carbon Hill, is in Norwood hospital seriously wounded, while Elmer Olive, employee of a dance hall at Carbon Hill, is in the Jasper jail, held without bond pending the outcome of Moore's wound. The shooting, according to information received by The News, over long distance telephone from Sheriff S. D. Kilgore, at Jasper, happened about three miles from Eldridge, between three and four o'clock Sunday afternoon. It grew out of a liquor dispute, according to information given Sheriff Kilgore.

Moore was brought to Birmingham Sunday night. His parents came with him. Authorities, realizing the grave condition of the boy, would permit no one to see him nor talk with him, though it was reported Sunday night the shooting was an accident.

Prison Inspector Sees Morgan Jail

Miss Ann Davis, state prison inspector, was here for a short while today, conducting a personal inspection of condition in the Morgan County jail. Miss Davis made no report at the conclusion of her inspection, the report being sent out later from Montgomery. Miss Davis talked with three prisoners regarding health conditions, food and comforts.

12 Years Ago From the Daily of TODAY

April 12, 1914

of The Daily of that date.

April 19 falling on Sunday, there was no issue

Another healthy political sign is the receipt again in this office of the bright and interesting Mountain Eagle.

The Charleston affects the heart, say physicians. Don't blame it on the dance, this is Spring.

"More than a thousand watch human fly," says a headline. 100,000,000 will be watching for flies all summer—there's no news in that headline.

Inviting King Alfonso to Mammoth Cave is some little publicity stunt for Kentuckians. It is evident they do something besides oil shotguns for feds in building their good state.

Talking of industrial plants, every citizen approached on the subject has said, "We can raise it." That is indicative of the new spirit of the whole Tennessee Valley.

Three more hanged in Chicago. The Daily bears to be absolved from possessing a disposition to gloat over such a tragedy, but it is impressive evidence that the American public is considerably tired of indiscriminate killings and intends to put a stop to them.

It is no longer necessary to compare the lands of North Alabama with the valley of the Nile. Just say you're from North Alabama and the stranger knows all about your section.

A local minister declared the other day that on a trip to Florida there were perhaps no more than half a dozen people on four pullman coaches of his train. He had difficulty in obtaining rail reservation on the way back which is only natural, he was returning to Alabama.

Whatever Dr. Alexander had in mind when he scored the South's "Jim Crow" law, he certainly received the plaudits of the multitudes when he quit. If he hadn't quit when he did, it is likely that Atlanta, the town owning his citizenship, might have been minus a bright mind.

Again The Daily would remind its readers to study the poll list. If you are a qualified voter and your name was not on the original list, be sure that you take the matter up with the probate office, so that your name, if you are entitled to vote, can be placed on the supplemental list which will be published within a few days.

One week from today the Congressional committee receiving Muscle Shoals bids is to report back to Congress. Then comes the period of uncertainty. Uncertainty in Congress, but not for North Alabama, our feet are on a firm foundation, there is no need to worry over the antics of our Congressional constituents.

Perhaps Senator George Norris entered the state by way of Montgomery for safety. Just the same we are sorry that he could not come to the Twin Cities and explain his reasons for raising such a stir over Muscle Shoals while we were hoping for a solution. Maybe he wasn't so far wrong after all in his contention that power should be secondary at the Shoals.

MORGAN COUNTY SHOWS INCREASE IN MOTOR USE

Within four years time Morgan county has sped onward until now Morgan is traveling at a rate of speed double that of 1922. Motor licenses this year will reach 4,000, doubling the number in 1922, an altogether healthy sign of the condition of Morgan citizenship. People can't afford to purchase automobiles unless they can pay for them, unless they can utilize them to the fullest and best extent. The fellow who sits around and howls that the world is going to the dogs because everybody is buying automobiles is far wrong in his contention. The world is only moving faster and he evidently is content to move at the rate of speed established 20 years ago. It won't work this day and time with electricity and gasoline furnishing all necessary power for propelling human beings and the machines fashioned by the hands of man, doubling efficiency, removing discomforts, adding pleasure, good business, and health. The increase in the number of motor vehicles in the county is only one indicator that the county is attempting to keep pace with the remainder of the state. It is move with the procession these days or just ahead of it, if there is going to be any enjoyment in life.

WOMEN SUFFER THE MOST FROM STRIKES, NOT THE MEN

Recently 20,000 British women marched through the streets of London in a protest against the strike weapon, sometimes used by capital and again used by labor, they were protesting in the names of their homes and children and not for the sake of their husbands. The women, including all classes of English women from the highest in social rank, to the wives of the lowest in wage scale, marched in this gigantic demonstration that women are opposed to a strike, seeing it as a menace to the home, rather than a menace to capital and the industry of the world. The women were not wrong, the first blow is felt at home where there must be misery, death, ignorance, poverty. Woman's work never ceases, no matter under what condition she is forced to work, she does not strike she keeps right on working and if she had her way then her husband would be much of the same thrifty and energetic nature. The strike weapon is a giant at first, glowing down upon the bald pate of capital, but in the last analysis it is a terror that is equaled only by the horrors of war and the depredation and suffering of revolution. Labor and capital are both at fault as the usual thing in strike, yet they should take into consideration that through the use of arbitrary measure that there will be thousands of hungry stomachs satisfied each night before bedtime.

HEFLIN BELIEVES CONGRESS WILL ACCEPT ONE OF SEVEN BIDS

Senator Thomas J. Heflin, Alabama's Junior Senator, offers a ray of light in the Muscle Shoals controversy. He believes that the controversy has raged for the last time and that now Congress is ready to accept one of the seven bids, which he describes as better than the bid submitted by Henry Ford some years ago. With the acceptance of the Shoals bid, should it come to pass this session, people of the Muscle Shoals area will indeed go "wild," and they have a right to become maniacs for a day or a week as their feelings dictate. The acceptance of a bid for the properties can mean only that the long awaited expansion has come to North Alabama.

After the first stroke, let it be hoped that we will again turn our eyes towards city building. The addition of millions of dollars into this territory is going to mean wonderful result, but every citizen of the Shoals area has a part to play. Capital bringing millions of dollars into the Tennessee Valley, brings in hopes of producing additional millions in dividends and not for the purpose of casting bags of gold to the people already located here. The utilization of opportunity by the people already in the Shoals district is the big thing of the "boom." What are you going to do with this great development now that you have it, that is the question to be solved when Congress decides to trust a corporation with the fertilizer and power resources at the Shoals.

WHAT A LESSON IS CONTAINED IN THE MONEY THOUGHT

Money, money, money. The cry of all the peoples of the globe. At last the curse of discontent has appeared in another form, a different form as you will discover as you read this short editorial from the columns of the Anniston Star:

A brother kills himself because the law would not permit him to renounce his share in an inherited estate in order that his sister might have it all. Sisters and brothers wrangle in our courts over who will support the aged parents. Husbands hate wives and wives hate husbands because of the weekly pay check. Old friendships die of blight when our neighbor holds more gold in his pockets than we do.

And comes this miracle of the age—a man dies for his money. Not that he may possess. But that he may give. And in losing his life perhaps he finds it for all of us who read the story of his passing.

This man may have been a hero, the world will judge him such, an eccentric hero, a man with the highest aims, a calling above the realm of human desires. It is indeed unusual, as the Star points out. The Star speaks of the lesson that is contained in the passing of this man, it is deep, another story of sacrifice, a story of a man's understanding of life that has never yet been told.

Money will always remain one of the shortest routes to happiness and the scourge of the human mind. A little or too much, it can always take its toll upon the wealth of the human race.

A STORY TOLD UNUSUALLY WELL IN HUNTSVILLE CASE

You've often heard the story about how a handful of citizens carry on the constructive work of their particular town? If you are still a skeptic and wish to see the adage in action just take a look at these figures, revealed in the Huntsville Daily Times and urging that more people join the ranks of the contributors to Huntsville's hospital.

"30,000 to Free Huntsville's New Hospital. Only 370 people out of more than 20,000 folk in the greater Huntsville area and some 55,000 in the county of Madison as a whole have made any contribution to the hospital."

That is a striking illustration of the number of people who actually back their talk with cash in any community. Albany-Decatur fared better in the hospital drive here some 800 persons having contributed to the hospital enlargement plan. Still that 800 is nothing like the number expected to be touched in the drive for humanity. The classes of people who were expected to enter into the contributing forces with small sums were the classes that did not respond. The handful of "Die Hards" continued to work until the goal was reached, though some dug into their pockets on a second and third occasion just to see a good cause reach its goal.

Huntsville is going to have her hospital, just as is Albany-Decatur and all the folks who didn't contribute are going to lean on the shoulders of the public spirited citizens who fought the battle almost singly. It isn't fair to expect your neighbor to take care of you, the theory that the world owes anyone a living is all wrong, a living comes by the hardest scraping and the closest co-operation among the peoples of the globe.

Why is The Daily talking about a hospital drive now gone and another drive in Madison county, far away from Albany-Decatur? Just this: Within a few weeks there may be a drive on foot in Albany-Decatur, a drive that is destined to raise your cities from the mediocre city class to the better and bigger city class. It's going to take more than any 800 people to put the drive safely away it is going to take other than dribbling investment to realize of a wonderful dream. Don't lay down on the job if it becomes necessary to raise a large sum.

There have been numbers and numbers of good business men who have stated that they will gladly contribute towards the bringing of industry to these cities and it is not in the least strange that they are in the majority the same men who saw to it that the hospital drive was put away safely. They are going to need aid this time, they are going to call on the rank and file of Albany-Decatur and perhaps Morgan county citizenship. They have determined that the "can't be done" folks have been dressing the Twin Cities in mourning long enough and that it is now time to put on the gayest of colors and flaunt to the world the gloriousness of the Tennessee Valley section.

The entire Tennessee Valley is on the upgrade and not a single city or town in the section can afford to lay down on past glories. The world forgets what has been done in the past, it is the present action and the dream of future expansion that attracts the world.

Get ready now, if it requires sacrifice for the time being remember that the benefits are to come later, in that respect and in that alone can you afford to wait.

prices, do not be frightened by individuals known in Wall street, as "sold-out bulls."

The "sold-out bull" bought stocks lower and when he thought they had gone to the top, then groaned in anguish as they went still higher. He wants his stocks back at lower prices, and tells the world that panic is coming and everything is going to the dogs.

Don't believe him. We shall have trouble some day perhaps, but as yet our boom hasn't really started.

IF THE Illinois vote enlightens the republican party, and turns this nation away from the danger of financial drain by European schemers, the United States boom will last a long time.

Everything in this country, if well managed, from cigar stores to oil wells, is worth more than it ever was. There is more money. We are playing in a bigger game.

THREE INCHES in some newspapers, three lines in others, tell about plans for harnessing tides in the Bay of Fundy. Yet that is the most important news since the invention of the steam engine and destined to be more important to the human race in future ages, than steam ever was.

Chief Engineer Cooper of the great hydro-electric enterprise, believes that preliminaries including consent of Canada and the United States, will have been obtained and construction begun by 1927.

THE RESULT will be regular production of 500,000 actual horsepower, with a peak production of from 700,000 to 800,000 horsepower.

The cost will be from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The state of Maine after using all it wants, will sell power to other states. And as long as the ocean tides are lifted by moon and sun, that plant will add more than half a million to the world's supply of horsepower.

Discovery of a thousand gold mines, greater than were ever known would not begin to equal in real value that plant harnessing the high tides on the north Atlantic coast.

A MAN died leaving letters of advice and guidance to be read by his son at various ages. Wise men have written for the Los Angeles Evening Herald such letters as they would write and leave after death to be read by a son at ten, fifteen twenty-one years of age, etc.

IT'S A PLEASANT, sentimental idea. But what you teach your son before you die is a million times more important than any letters you can leave for him.

A voice from the grave receives scant attention, in these days.

A sufficient letter from a dead father to his son might read, "I taught you what I could while I was alive, and tried to set you a good example. Now use your brains and try to honor your father and your mother."

GEORGE CAMPBELL CARSON, very old miner, was cheated out of a valuable invention by a powerful smelting company. Now the court gives Carson all the profits of the invention, which will amount to twenty millions, or more.

The corporation will pay, but money now cannot make up for the old miner's years of want and worry, which should have been years of comfort.

How much profit is there in $20,000,000 for a man about to leave the earth and money?"

Children's Songs Highly Praised

Kiwanians today were still talking of the Danville meeting of the Farm Relation committee held Friday night. Many were of the opinion that the singing of Danville school children was easily the feature of the meeting. Visitors to the Danville section described the singing as being the finest they had heard on the part of school children in any section of the country. They also expressed appreciation of the delightful reading given by Miss Hattie Lou Briscoe.

Rev. Hunter Gives A Pleasing Sermon

Reverend James D. Hunter delivered one of his most pleasing addresses at the Central Methodist church Sunday night to a large congregation, forming a strikingly beautiful religious application with the story of Phillip Nolan, "The Man Without a Country." The pastor likened the story of the homeless man to the man without a church home and a faith in God. At the close of his evening address the pastor received three into the church Mary members and visitors come forward at the close of his sermon to express appreciation for his pleasing presentation of his message.

Pettingill paced the floor, fuming. "If there's a woman in the lower camp she's just a plain—"

"Stop," said Bravo, quietly. "I must—this young woman is as good as your wife, sir. That's why I want her sent away with your wife. Isn't there a special at Sparta, for use of company officials?"

"Yes. It went to Lewisohn this afternoon to pick up a division crew. It won't get back till midnight."

"Midnight'll be soon enough. Look here, Mr. Pettingill, I think I can round up the men and keep them in bounds. Won't you let this—lady I mentioned get on the special with Mrs. Pettingill? There's going to be trouble."

"I don't see why not," said Pettingill. "Certainly, young man, certainly. Bring her along. I'll drive by camp in the flivver and pick her up. But what in the world's she doing in camp? Who brought her here?"

"Well—in a way, I did. Look here, I can't give you all the facts just now—I don't know them all. And time's rather important. But you will take her, won't you? I can depend on that?"

"Yes, yes. Of course."

The phone bell rang. The engineer picked up the receiver.

"Yes, Pettingill speaking," he said. "Hello, Stephens. Yes, yes. Doggone it, are you scared too? Uh-huh. I know all about it. A damned nuisance, the whole thing. It mustn't hold us up. I insist that we—what? What? No! . . . H-m."

"Exactly," said Bravo. "If I hear another word from you, I'll break your neck, you dog."

You don't say. H-m. Yes, you bet. He hung up, pursed his lips, and shook his head.

"Damned nuisance," he repeated. "This girl Lily—she's dead."

Bravo speaks up.

Fritz stirred a vat of simmering coffee. Outside the door of the camp kitchen Barbara, holding the mallet in both hands, viciously beat tocsin on the dinner gong. "Somehow a contagion of battle had caught her. From whence it came she knew not."

Perhaps it had been in Bravo's voice, when he came in from upper camp and, with a contained excitement giving a disquieting lustre to his eyes, ordered Barbara to sound assembly.

She looked up and saw Bravo, ten feet away, looking at her curiously. As he approached she coughed nervously.

"There's the smell of blood in the air," he said slowly.

"I knew there was something in the air," Barbara said vehemently. "You know what it is, and you won't tell me."

Her voice was plaintive. Wasn't there a special bond between them? Shouldn't she share his secrets? He was constantly excluding her from his thoughts. Was she in consequence, or unworthy? A fever of anger, latent all these months, was rising within her.

This man, to whom she had given, unreserved devotion and friendship was returning for her all, but a fraction of himself. Persistently he remained to her an unfinished story.

"Forget I'm a woman," she said. "What's going on? Talk to me like a man."

"Sure, Barbara."

He spoke mechanically. He'd not even gathered the import of her words.

"You'll hear about it in a little while."

"When, everybody else does?"

"There was jealous anger in her tones."

He wanted to retort just as angrily. Then he remembered that this would be her last night in camp. The sense that he was judged to her trusting faith clenched him. The thought that she was to go brought a vast emptiness to his heart.

"Forgive me."

He spoke the two words with such deep meaning that an intuitive shiver of premonition shook her.

"Help me now." The appealing note in Bravo's voice came through the heavy night air to Barbara, leaning disconsolately against the upright from which hung the gong.

"What can I do?" she asked.

She could rush candles into the mess hall. The electric dynamo was dead every evening at 9.

"All right," begged Bravo, "come back on the entered the."

cook shack and went to the supply shelves. "I wish we had the light of ten suns to see by tonight."

He piled box after box of the candles in her arms, until they reached with the load. He patted her on the back and turned to encourage Fritz, the cook, with the same homely gesture.

"Put a barrel of sugar in that coffee," he ordered. "Maybe it'll sweeten the gorillas up a bit."

"Sweetness and light," mocked Barbara on her way to the mess hall.

"You bet your life," he called after her. "I wish there was a lot more of it—everywhere."

His answer was the slap of the screen door behind Barbara's back and, distant still but nearing, the ominous roll of thunder in the west.

The mess hall filled rapidly. The men grabbed candles from Barbara's arms and struck matches.

She took her post at the top of the hall and waited. Bravo entered at the other end. She watched him walk up the centre aisle. When he was midway she saw a man seated at the end of one of the long transverse benches reach out his foot as if he intended to trip up the fellow worker who had so suddenly and unaccountably risen above the mass to command this emergency. He was called by the men "Sailor" Cassidy.

Bravo was speaking. His tone was the conversational. He seemed wholly at ease, but Barbara noticed that he kept wiping the palms of his hands on the skirt of his coat.

"We're in trouble," began Bravo. She looked down over the series of intent faces, and thought that they looked indeed like the faces of men in trouble—like the faces of men never out of trouble.

"The trouble's about the girl in Sparta. She killed herself a while ago. They're burying her tonight. One of us killed her, all right. He's here tonight, among you in this room. If I knew who he was I'd turn him over to the police. That'd mean lynching sure."

"But I don't know who he is."

His voice rose with sudden wrath. "He can keep his secret. For all I care he can sleep with it, and eat it and drink it, and when he dies, take it with him to hell!"

"I promised Pettingill we'd finish this damned tunnel. We've got a week to go before we bust through and meet the gans working from the other side."

The voice of Cassidy boomed forth, impatiently.

"What's the racket?"

"The racket is this. If any of you steps out of camp in the next week or so, there'll be a mixup with the townies. You know what happened to the two men who went down to get meat. They're patrolling the valley day and night. They've notified me they're going to grab the next guy that shows outside the barbed wire. So my promise to Pettingill means all of you've got to stay in camp until I say leave. Get that?"

Bravo paused. The breathing of the men seemed to pause with his voice.

"Cassidy's wants me to tell you there's a bounty of $10,000 to be divided when and if we go through Peck's Mountain schedule. You don't want to lose that. But this isn't why you're going to stay in camp for the next week."

"What's the reason?" called Cassidy.

"The reason is because I say so. And if there's anybody here thinks that isn't a good reason, let him step up."

"Sailor" Cassidy rose unsteadily. "You wanna know who's gonna leave camp tonight?" His voice was thick with booze. "I'm telling you. I'm the guy I'm going to town tonight. I feel as though I ought to attend that funeral."

"Why?" asked Bravo mildly.

"I got sentimental reasons of my own."

The assembly was still, as if a dike to a play.

"When you're sober," said Bravo, "I'll have a chat with you. But meanwhile—no man leaves camp tonight."

Cassidy lurched a pace toward Bravo and raised the pitch of his voice.

"You're a hell of a guy to be gettin' moral all of a sudden."

The men tittered.

"Come here," said Bravo. Cassidy hesitated and then advanced, as if impelled by Bravo's beckoning. He strode with doubled fist and at three paces from Bravo went into a crouch which every body recognized as distinctly professional. From somewhere out of the ungainly hunched mass of torso and crooked limbs a fist shot. It sped straight and true for Bravo's chin. Barbara failed to follow with her eyes the quick motion of Bravo's body. She saw Cassidy's fist miss. She saw the arm which propelled it twisted into the crook of Bravo's elbow. She saw him seize Cassidy's wrist with his free hand. She heard a violent cracking sound and a howl of agony from Cassidy.

"You've broke me arm! You've broke me arm!"

"Exactly," said Bravo. "If I hear another word out of you, I'll break your neck, you dog. Get out of here and beat it for the infirmary."

He pushed Cassidy violently forward. Meaning, the man tottered away. Bravo raised his voice.

"If there's any among you who wants to leave camp tonight," he said, "remember there's plenty of room at the infirmary and two bone-setters on the company payroll."

He swung on his heel and walked away. When he reached Barbara he took her by the arm and dragged her with him to the door.

Tribute Paid To Alex S. Darnell

The following tribute to Alexander S. Darnell, well known local citizen is said him by the Union Recorder, of Millersville, Ga., where Mr. Darnell formerly resided:

"Mrs. A. J. Carr received a telegram Wednesday, April 7, announcing that Mr. Alex S. Darnell had died at his home in Decatur, Ala. The funeral and burial was held in that city Friday. The news of the death of Mr. Darnell was heard with deep regret in his native city. He was the younger son of the late Mrs. J. M. Darnell, and a grandson of Governor Mitchell. He was born and reared in this city and went to Decatur a number of years ago and engaged in the railroad business. He frequently visited his old home and always received a cordial welcome awaiting him from many friends here. He loved Millersville and its people and when he came back here, his time was spent pleasantly in visiting scenes and friends of his boyhood days."

Mt. Hope School Is Now Accredited

MOULTON, Ala., April 19.—Special.—The school authorities of Lawrence county and the principal of the Mt. Hope school, half way between Moulton and Russellville, have been notified by the State Department of education, Montgomery that the Mount Hope school is now placed on the accredited list of secondary schools in the state; for years the citizens of the Mount Hope district have maintained a high standard in the school carrying ten grades, and, though not accredited, its pupils were so well prepared that they usually received credit when going to other institutions. The equipment recently added to the schools is superior to any in the county; it consists of approximately 325

Negro Suffers Injury at Depot

A negro attache of the Sheelsy shows, a carnival aggregation, suffered a badly injured foot Sunday afternoon when he slipped, at the Decatur union depot, while getting off the train. The carnival was moving on its own cars, from Florence, where it played last week, to Huntsville for an engagement this week. As the train slowed up at the station, the negro attempted to drop off, but his foot was caught beneath a wheel. He was removed to the baggage room and given medical attention, later being sent to the hospital.

FOUR INSPIRING SERVICES HELD AT CENTRAL BAPTIST SUNDAY

Four great services were held at the Central Baptist church Sunday, under the leadership of the pastor and Rev. Farrar and Jack Scholfield who are leading a revival at this church, and it continues to grow in interest each day. The largest attendance this year was recorded in the Sunday school, 351 attending. At the 7:30 meeting, a rare treat was afforded the congregation when Mr. Scholfield in his song service presented the local quartet, Messrs. B. H. Curtis, John Peck, E. W. Laxon and Geo. Evans, who brought real sermons in song in two inspiring numbers, "What did He do?" and "My Mother's Way." The quartet has agreed to assist further in the song services.

At the 11 a. m. service, Mr. Scholfield's message in song was another outstanding feature which was received with concern and went to the depths of the audience as sung in great feeling, "The Road leads Home." At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. Farrar spoke to men only in words of warning and counsel that went far to move the large mass of men who were present, and at the close of this service, the large majority of those present pledged themselves to cling to the Cross of Jesus, and live lives of purity before their families and fellowmen.

One of the most outstanding things the preacher is doing in his work here is to speak to those he meets on the street each day and invite them to church. This has had much effect and has driven home to the Christian people here the need of more fellowship. Among the group present Sunday one man spoke of meeting the Evangelist on the street, and being invited to church. He said that this was the first time he had been invited to a local church in the last five years, so he came out to see what the meeting would mean to him, and felt that he had been well repaid for coming and expected to attend further. This gentleman was a man who had been in the city several times each week. Members of Central Baptist church were awakened to their duty, and hope to convey to the public, man, woman, child, rich man, poor man, merchant, shop girl, farmer and to all that this church wants them to come to the services at all times and held uphold the work of Jesus, and there has grown a feeling that it is truly a church where "everybody is welcome," as a slogan this has been used for many years.

The meeting will continue through the present week and longer, according to the interest manifested, if best. Monday evening the Evangelist will speak on "A Sinner before the Judgment" and all were urged to hear this message. Next Sunday afternoon, a service for ladies and girls will be conducted at this church, and it is hoped an overflow number of girls and ladies will plan to be present. At the noon hour this week, numbers of meetings have been planned at the various industries, and will be announced by the pastor from the platform each evening.

The evening message of the evangelist, Sunday, was based on the Scriptural story of the Rich man and Lazarus. With great feeling the county missionary drove home facts that could not be denied, and several asked for prayer at the close of the service. A number of additions have been made to the church during the revival, and it is expected that a large number will be led to Christ before the close. Emphasis is placed on the fact that addition of numbers to the church is not the main thing in this revival, but to let God bring His transforming power into the lives of church members who have not been converted as well as to sinners is the main thing and only to be desired.

J. I. CHRISSINGER, Sec'y.

The family budget did not begin to grow really serious until the wife began having her hair cut every week.

He: My darling Rose.
She: (feeling an unshaved face):
My darling Prickly Pear.

People should go slow with their marrying. It may be their last wedding for several days.

It is easy to pick the poorest hater. He comes up when there are three on and two out.

Ho Hum
I am so happy,
I fall in love.
I marry,
I am divorced.
I am happy.

Correct this sentence: "I never think of business after I leave the office in the evening."

"We elected Dudley, the office pest to the biggest job in the land, that of keeping his nose in his own business."

Little Jessie was making a terrible noise while playing with brother Jimmie, so Mamma called to her:

"Gracious, Jessie, why are you shouting in that terrible manner? Why can't you be quiet, like Jimmie?"

"He's got to be quiet, the way we're playing," replied Jessie. "He's papa, coming home from the Elks, and I'm you."

It seems strange that those who profess so much knowledge of the next world know so little about this one.

An auctioneer had passed away
One morning just at dawn,
So on his tombstone was engraved,
"Going, going gone."

It feels us with dread to think what would happen to the country if people had to earn their money before they spent it.

Teacher: "I have went. That's wrong, isn't it?"
Pupil: "Yes, ma'am."
Teacher: "Why is it wrong?"
Pupil: Because you ain't went yet."

One of the ways for a poet to double his reading public is to marry.

The disadvantage of eating raisin bread in the work is that you have to seek out all the raisins.

Folly—The doctor says he has saved her life nine times.
Dolly—I always did think she was a cat.

The yield of a whale is about 14 tons of oil, but this is very much against his wishes.

A closed mouth is the usual accompaniment of an open mind.

Little drops of water,
Added to the milk,

About the only thing the present senate has passed successfully is the buck.

The drunken driver's only excuse is that he didn't know he was loaded.

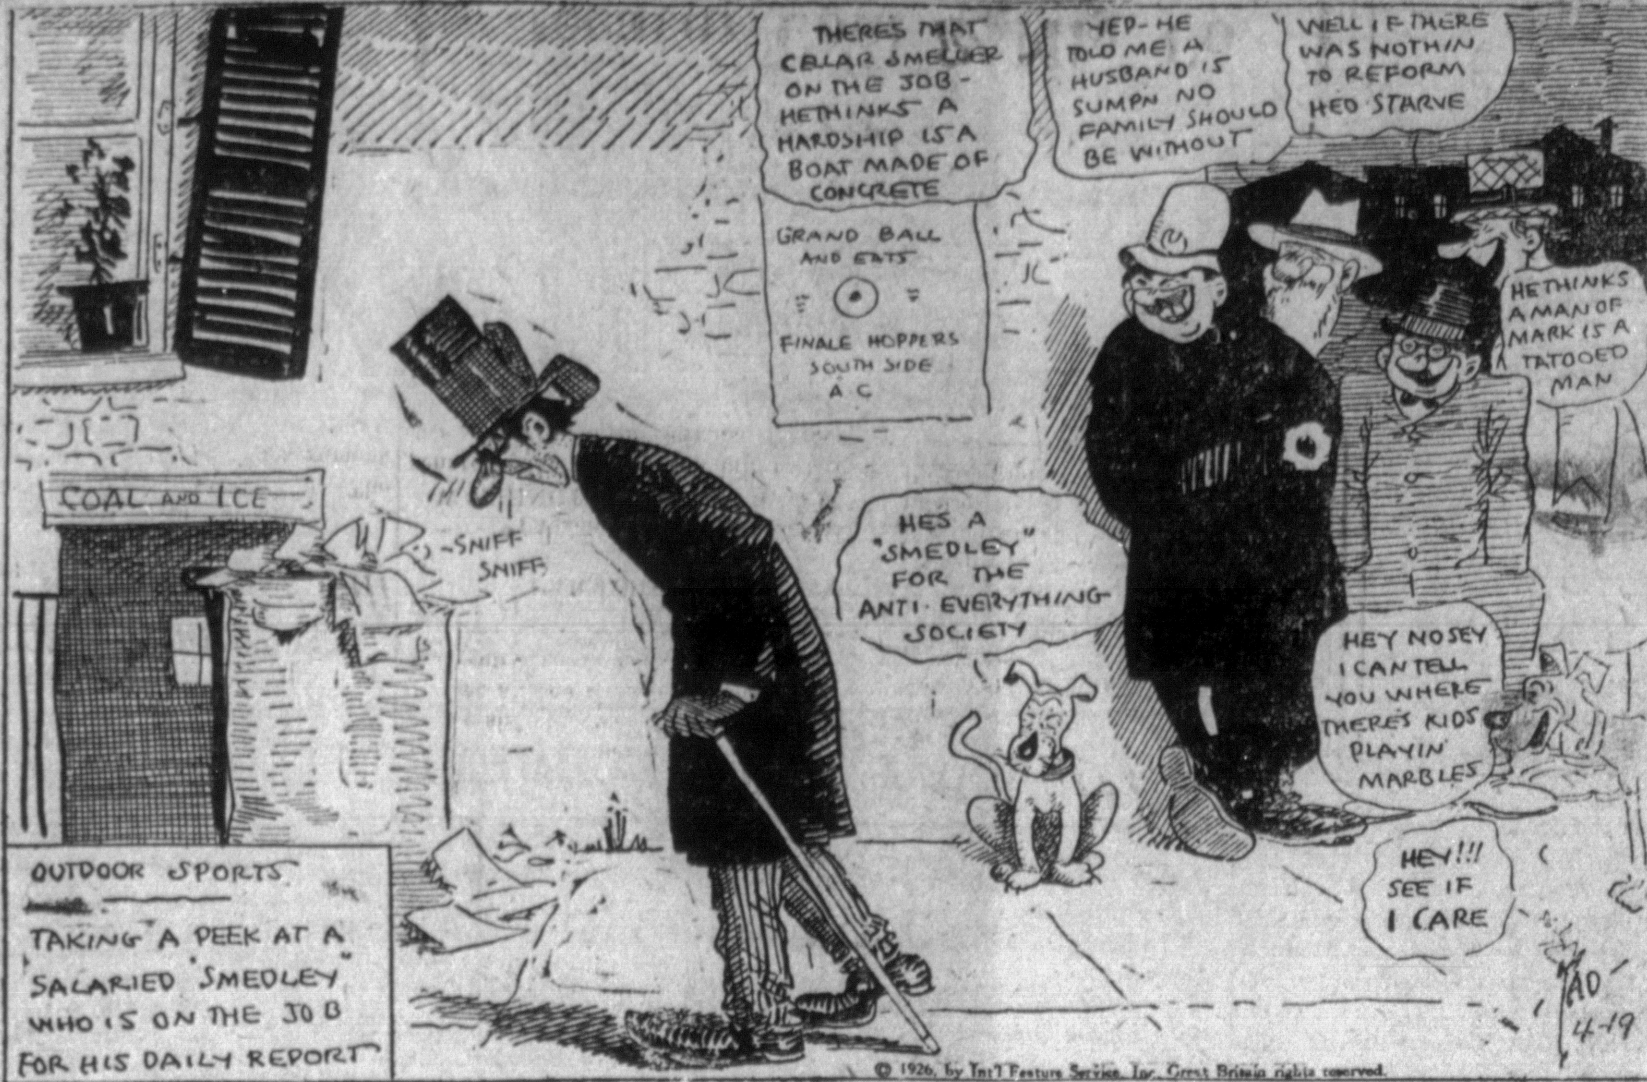

A wise man never makes faces at red-headed girls nor bites a mule on the ankle.

Large Attendance at Mission Meet

Numbers of Twin City missionary society representatives were gathered at Central Baptist church throughout today as Mrs. Lamar Penney presided over the meeting of the Federated Missionary societies of Albany-Decatur. An interesting and forcefully delivered address by Dr. J. E. Dillard Birmingham featured the morning session which was convened at 10:30 o'clock. The ladies took their own luncheon, as is the custom, to the church for the noon hour recess and were reconvened for the afternoon session. The gathering was brought to a close at three o'clock.

CHILD IMPROVES

Little Margaret Billings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Billings, who suffered painfully burned hands several days ago, when the child fell against a stove, was still improving today.

TROOP 20

Troop 20 held its regular weekly meeting Friday night at headquarters. Scripture was read by Petey Holesapple and the troop repeated the Lord's prayer. We then took roll call and dues. We are laying particular emphasis on the "good turn" idea, and had the boys to write out their good turns for the week. After announcements were made, the Crow Patrol put on a program which was gotten up on the spur of the moment. After playing several games, it was announced that our troop was to deliver one thousand cards, as reminders of the revival at the Baptist church, Saturday. Everybody set out with the work that was assigned them. In the recent court of honor we fared very well, getting several badges. We hope to get more next month.

Pastors Depart For Lebanon

Pastors of the Decatur district of North Alabama conference, Methodist Episcopal church, will leave this afternoon and early Tuesday for Lebanon church where the annual meeting is being held to determine church affairs for the past year. Laymen of the Albany-Decatur churches are expected to be well represented in the gathering. Rev. J. S. Robertson is presiding elder of the Decatur district. The meeting will be convened Tuesday morning and last through Wednesday.

Supreme Court To Decide Rum Treaty

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The supreme court consented today to interpret the rum treaty with Great Britain. It granted an appeal in a case from San Francisco in which George Ford, George Harris and J. Evelyn, British subjects, and Vincent Quartararo and Charles J. Belanger challenged a construction of the treaty given by the federal district court for Northern California.

The men named were convicted of a conspiracy charge which alleged they had landed liquor at San Francisco from the "Quadra," lying off the Sarallone islands. They challenged the jurisdiction of the federal court to try persons under the treaty for offenses alleged to have been committed outside its district.

Jardine Endorses The Tinchier Bill

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Tinchier bill to extend government credit to farmers co-operative associations, was endorsed before the house agricultural committee today by Secretary Jardine.

"It has been thoroughly impressed upon me," said the Secretary of Agriculture, "that the basic surplus problem is not confined to any one section. It is a nation-wide problem. It has seemed to me fundamental that legislation designed to affect the prices of farm products must have full regard, not only for the common interests, but likewise for the conflicting interests of all regions."

SPORTS

Senators Down Yanks In Extra Frame Fracas, Marberry Wins In Relief Role

Washington managed to down the Yanks in 11 innings Sunday when Dutch Marberry, the old reliable, went into the box in time to save Joe Bush from the ravages of Yank bats. Bob Muesel was a factor in the Yank scoring, turning up in the ninth inning with a circuit blow with Gehrig on base, tying the count. Stuffey Stewart ran for Stan Harris in the eleventh to score the Senators winning run.

The St. Louis Browns touched Whitehill hard yesterday, but Detroit managed to score ahead of them for a 7-3 victory. Ty Cobb's Tigers are hard to beat at their own game. If it's hitting the ball they are happy.

College Standings

Three Southern conference baseball teams who have met the acid test of competition with fellow conference members have escaped defeat. The University of Virginia and the University of Mississippi have played and won two games. Virginia Military institute has won its only conference contest.

Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee, Seawane, and Maryland have not yet been involved in games within the charmed circle of 22 southern colleges and universities.

Standing of conference teams within the organization:

	W	L	Pct.
Virginia	2	0	1.000
Mississippi	2	0	1.000

Alabama	0	5	.000

Pepper, local lad at the University, has been doing some hitting since he took his station on the Crimson lineup. Pep started the season with a pair of triples against the Barons and later contributed much to the discomfort of the Georgia Tech Jacks, though Tech swept the series. Pepper is referred to at the University as 'Big' Pepper, but after looking at the size and weights of Gillis, Hubert et al, the Crimson sport writers are requested to file their sights.

FARMERS WIN

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The senate today passed the bill to prohibit discrimination against farmer co-operative marketing associations by boards of trades.

Eight Helps for Housecleaning Time

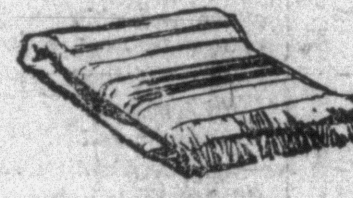

If some kind person should come into your house around spring housecleaning time, wash and pack away all the winter blankets; clean the motor rugs that show grease spots after the winter's use; take out the summer curtains, do them up as you would, beautifully finished; and wash your feather pillows to a wonderful new fluffiness—wouldn't you be grateful?

Our modern laundry methods are at your service to relieve you of these and other details of spring housecleaning. Bundle up your curtains, pillows, rugs and other heavier pieces today and send them to us.

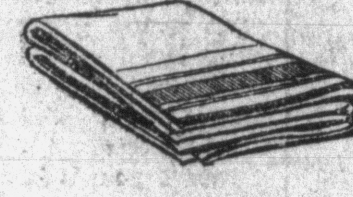

Lace Curtains that Look Like New

We wash your lace curtains in fleecy suds, and pure soft water. Our modern laundry methods enable us to return your curtains exactly their original size, with scallops even, and all beautifully finished.

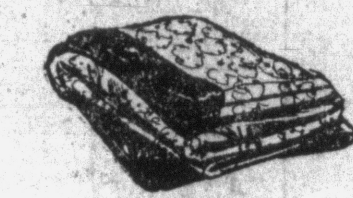

How about those heavy Rag and Woolen Rugs?

Are you going to struggle with the washing of those heavy rag and woolen rugs this spring? We can launder them for you. Save yourself, and send them to us.

Have your Blankets Washed before Storing

Of course, you will want to have your blankets washed. Why not let us do this laborious work for you? Our way of laundering them saves the nap, and keeps them soft and fleecy.

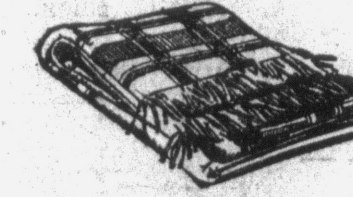

Eiderdown Quilts Laundered Expertly

Our modern washing methods are ideal for your eiderdown-quilts, which you will naturally want cleaned before storing. Here is another bit of heavy work that you will find it economical to have us do for you.

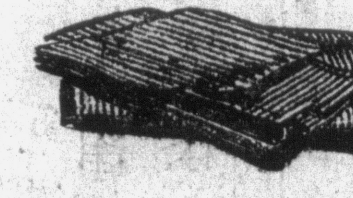

Your Feather Pillows Made Light and Downy

Feather pillows washed by our specialized methods are soft and downy after their bath in rich suds and drying in clean warm air currents. Put new life in your old pillows by having us wash them our laundry way.

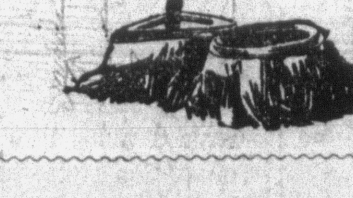

And those Motor Rugs?

You can send your motor rugs to us also, to be washed free of the past season's grime and grease. We have special equipment for handling these extra weighty things.

Dress Up Your Car in Fresh Covers

This is the time for clean automobile covers. Before you place them on your car again for the season, send these cumbersome pieces to us to be freshly laundered.

Let Us Wash Your Mops

Everything else gets washed at housecleaning time, so don't forget that we wash heavy O'cedar and woolen mops. Bundle them up, and our driver will call.
